Volunteer Opportunities

Volunteer for us!

The Groton Public Library wants your time and talents. To become a volunteer, simply pick up an application packet at the Library. Volunteers may be subject to a background check.

Book Sale

The Library holds multiple book sales throughout the year. Our volunteers sort and clean donations, distribute flyers and publicity, and collect cash sales.

Reach Out And Read (ROAR)

Volunteers visit nursing homes to read aloud to vision and memory impaired individuals.

Book Nooks

The Library maintains seven Book Nooks throughout Groton, Mystic and Noank. The Nooks require bi-monthly visits for restocking and tidying.

Homebound Delivery

The Library coordinates a delivery system for individuals who are unable to get to the Library on their own due to age or a medical condition. Volunteers deliver books to private residences, nursing homes, and assisted-living facilities.

Book Bundles

Volunteers pick up bags of picture books and promotional materials from the Library and deliver them to area daycare centers and preschools. Volunteers also read to children in storytime-related programs at those facilities.

Special Projects

Volunteer for special projects—everything from help with gardening, cleaning toys, and painting to preparing storytime materials, decorating display cases, and summer reading activities. Get your name on our “will call” list for any special projects that may arise.

Note: Court-ordered volunteer assignments will not be considered.

Circle of Friends and Junior Friends

Looking for an even greater way to help? Adults can join the Circle of Friends and young people can join the Junior Friends of the Groton Public Library.

These groups coordinate and manage fundraising projects and special events that support the Library and greater community.

Circle of Friends and Junior Friends membership applications are available at the Library. There is no fee to join, and members enjoy the many perks of being a “Friend” as well as the knowledge that they are supporting the Library. Pick up an application today!
